SITE ENGINEER

Build your career with one of Guernsey's longest-established building contractors. Rihoy & Son employs more than 200 staff and is involved with all types of projects, from small contracts to many of the island's most prestigious developments.

We are looking to recruit a Trainee Site Engineer to join our site teams. The role is a great opportunity for an enthusiastic school-leaver or graduate who has a genuine interest in the construction industry and is willing to learn.

The successful candidate will have an aptitude in engineering or mathematics, with an academic base from a related College of Further Education, A-Level, or degree course.

By joining us you'll gain practical experience under the guidance of our expert team to manage construction projects, provide technical advice, and undertake setting out, all to ensure projects are completed on time and within budget.

For more information, or to send your CV and covering letter, please contact Robin Le Page on 01481 245904 or mail@jwrihoy.com.

Closing date for applications Friday 17 September 2021.
